

Appendix 7 – Acknowledgements

We would like to thank the following for their valuable input into the Mainstreaming Community Economic Development research project:

- Our case study interviewees who gave their time to give us their insights into the local economy and were both useful and inspirational, and with more people like these we would have a much more just and inclusive economy:

Janet Lock, Sandwell MBC
Louise Pickford, Heart of England Fine Foods
Melanie Weaver, Birmingham Airport
Rosie Edwards, Sandwell MBC
Matthew Rhodes, Encraft
Dan Carins, Think Walsall
Tony Deep Wouhra, East End Foods
Darren Gardner, RETA
Dave Allport, Birmingham Energy Savers
Dave Terry, RESCO, AIM High
Jenny Howarth, Buy for Good
Mark Clemson, New World Solar
Paul Hutchens, Eco2Solar
Richard Beard, Jericho
Mark Tate and Eddie Price, Birmingham Wholesale Markets

- LWM members and associates who attended the evaluation meeting in July 2012 and who have commented and advised on the work as it has progressed
- All who participated in the MCED workshop on 7th November 2012
- Volunteers who assisted with the literature review – listed in its acknowledgements (App 1)
- Barrow Cadbury Trust, who funded the project. See below.
- The Centre for Local Economic Strategies, the New Economics Foundation, Birmingham Social Enterprise Consortium, and Chamberlain Forum, who while not directly involved in our project have been carrying out useful research in related areas under the same Barrow Cadbury funding programme, creating a useful body of work that can be shared and learnt from over the coming months in seeking a better economy.

About the funder – Barrow Cadbury Trust

The Barrow Cadbury Trust is an independent, charitable foundation, committed to supporting vulnerable and marginalised people in society. The Trust provides grants to grassroots voluntary and community groups working in deprived communities in the UK, with a focus on Birmingham and the Black Country. It also works with researchers, think tanks and government, often in partnership with other grant-makers, seeking to overcome the structural barriers to a more just and equal society.
